This volume was planned by Dr. S. S. Huebner, Professor of Insurance and Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania. The papers included were secured and edited by him, and the Academy is under special obligations to him.

This work is the third of a series of Academy volumes upon the same related subject. The first volume in the series, which was entitled "Bonds as Investment Securities," was first published in 1907 and reprinted in 1910. The second number in the series dealt with "Stocks and the Stock Market," a volume for which there has been also an unusual demand. The present publication upon "American Produce Exchange Markets" is believed to be a contribution of especial value upon a subject concerning which there is as yet but relatively little published.

THE EDITOR.
